

adly in love with his uncle's wife, Galahad, calling himself

"Lancelot" ("The Servant"), attempts to get away from Camelot by assisting the Lady of Nohaut. After that, he takes the Castle of

Dolorous Guard from Lord Brandin of the Isles, when he stops the deplorable custom of 10 on 1 fighting that the castle is known for. Brandin, thinking that The High King is the instigator, imprisons Gawaine who is sent to check up on the young knight. Brandin attempts to capture Guinevere when King Arthur comes to see for himself what is happening in the North.

After slaying two ogres in a fit of fury, and stopped by the Queen from killing Brandin himself, Galahad lies gravely wounded by himself in a forest.

A dragon and a leopard fought,
dealing each other previous wounds

The top panel of the comic shows a close-up of a dragon's head on the right, with its mouth open, revealing sharp teeth and a red tongue. On the left, a leopard is shown in silhouette, leaping towards the dragon. The background is dark and smoky.

but neither could strike the killing blow, and neither would stop.

A smaller dragon and leopard are shown in a similar pose to the top panel, with the dragon on the right and the leopard on the left. The dragon's mouth is open, showing its teeth. The leopard is in silhouette, leaping at the dragon. The background is dark and smoky.

But a smaller dragon bored from the first fight and each dealt
the other a death blow,

while the leopard could only watch.

A man with dark hair, wearing a red robe, is shown from the chest up. He is looking down with a distressed expression, his hands clasped in front of him. The background is dark and smoky.

Damn it,

It's the 45th
night in a row that I've had this dream.

Chapter Four

Haut Prince

Dolorous Prison

My lord King -
cough, cough
if you remember Dame Lisanoir,
who only had
you as a paramour-

She...was my mother.

Wait!

Hey.

My cousin Blaise, the Lady of Malistau, stumbled upon you. You broke a lot of ribs and the doctor thinks it's a miracle that you die of internal bleeding or puncture a lung.

Those are there because you tend to disappear at random.

Don't worry, if you cooperate my cousin is very reasonable.

Why am I held here?

That's just until the wedding.

What wedding?

Yours, of course, to my lovely cousin.

It's a good deal for you who is claiming to be a poor knight bachelor*

Wha ...at?!!

I can't get married!

This is insane!

This is one of your jokes, right? RIGHT?!

*he, a loneknot knight

What do you have to complain about? My cousin, sister to Malagun, the King with a Hundred Knights* was you as her husband!

She's beautiful and well-endowed in many ways than you! Are you a fool?

I can't marry!

So I hear that you love Guarnent, the Queen of Logres, or that she's enchanted you in some way and that would be a great waste to women everywhere!

*This character's identity was as provided for comic purposes when written as Lady Malagun's Knight

*This whole comic page is a summary of McGrag's Le Morte d'Arthur

Four days later,
he passed away.

Due to catching
the sweating sickness
during his long stay
at Doloreous Prison, Sir Loholt did not wakeen after collapsing.

The grieving Arthur took his own body back to Camelot and buried him with the rites due a prince.

BAM BAM

BAM

This greatly angered his queen.

Guinevere, please let me talk to you!

My lady, it's been three days
that my lord the King has -

I said,
NO ONE
is permitted to open the door.

Sometimes,
Arthur felt
the person
he married

wasn't the woman he fell in love with.

My lord King,
an urgent request
from the Senechal to attend in the three room!

What is it?

It's a party of knights with a declaration of war...!

Greeting
O King.

Sir Escarant
of Sorleise hails you.

Good sir,

What brings
you to Logres?

I bear a message to Arthur of Logres, High King of Gramarye, from my lord Prince Galahaut, Lord of Sorleise and the Far Isles, the Uncrowned King...

"You are to give your land to me, and hold it as my vassal, or I will come and take it all."

Al Chevalier Mestais

The Knight Who Served

Chapter 4: Heat Panses (to be continued)

